Von Dutch, at the source of Custom Culture.

The collection of equipment you're about to discover is the result of a collaboration between Helstons, who have developed true expertise in making protective, stylish motorcycle apparel, and Von Dutch, a fashion brand founded in Los Angeles in 1999 that emerged from the Custom and Streetwear cultures.

The man who inspired Von Dutch is none other than Kenny Howard, the renowned American pinstripping artist and prep mechanic who was as talented with a paintbrush as he was with a twelve-point wrench. Known as one of the founding fathers of the Custom movement and culture, which spread across the United States starting from California, in the 1950s. Von Dutch - Howard's nickname, since he was known to be "stubborn as a Dutchman" - widely influenced the world of vehicle customization.

Pinstripping, the art of decorating motorcycles, pick-up trucks, roadsters, and lowriders using ultra-thin lines of paint done freehand and covering all or part of the bodywork, thus transforming it into a work of graphic art, shaped Howard's artistic career. He particularly distinguished himself by creating the famous "Flying Eyeball" logo (still present on certain items in the collection) and by elaborating a specific shimmering Candy-Apple Red color to apply to none other than Marilyn Monroe's car.

Howard passed away in 1992, but his nickname, through this signature brand, became popularized by the "King of Fashion" and self-described friend of the stars Christian Audigier as a symbol of freedom for an entire generation of young adults all over the world. Their caps and T-shirts featuring the Von Dutch logo, worn by so many music and movie celebrities in the streets and on the beaches of Los Angeles in the early 2000s, influenced the world of streetwear.

Given that fashion is always returning to its sources, Von Dutch is now back in the spotlight with an audience that clearly, consciously or unconsciously, wants to display their attachment to this counterculture inspired by the movement for freedom that came out of California in the 1960s and '70s.

It didn't take much for the encounter between Helstons and Von Dutch to give rise to a collection focused on the finest materials, such as leather, as well as patches that are reminiscent of Kenny Howard's artistic and mechanical California roots. As a stand-alone range alongside the Helstons collection, it's designed for anyone who vibes with its Custom Culture-inspired graphical richness and authenticity, or who's ready for bold style and major personality.
